

UNIT 1 VOCABULARY & NOTES

literal equation	addition property of equality	subtraction property of equality
multiplication property of equality		division property of equality

Dividing each side of an equation by the same number produces an equivalent equation. _____ Example:	Adding the same number to each side of an equation produces an equivalent equation. _____ Example:
Multiplying each side of an equation by the same number produces an equivalent equation. _____ Example:	An equation that has two or more variables _____ Example:
	Subtracting the same number from each side of an equation produces an equivalent equation. _____ Example: